

The StationMaster®

Think of The StationMaster as the athlete of worksurfaces – sturdy like a weightlifter, fast like a sprinter and flexible like a gymnast. StationMaster's modular and flexible components allow it to quickly and easily take any shape you require: L-, V- or T-shaped or maybe another letter we haven't tried yet. It's equally at home in both training environments and as a hard-working desk.

StationMaster desking configuration shown in Gray/Charcoal with Alaris™ chair in Hue Char (See page 220).

Shown in Gray/Charcoal with Volt™ chairs in Black (see page 221).

- StationMaster's selection of worksurface sizes and shapes allows you to configure workstations or training tables in an amazing variety of layouts.
- Different situations sometimes demand different height worksurfaces. StationMaster is available in two heights – 29½" h and 26½" h, and with optional casters for mobility.
- Keep wires and cords neatly contained – StationMaster has wire management built right into the legs, providing cable and electrical capabilities in both training and desking applications.

See page 255 for the complete selection.